

What is Opening Doors?

Opening Doors is an initiative that 'opens doors'. It opens doors to new opportunities. Opens doors to education. Opens doors to a new career. Opens doors to a safe environment. There are four parts of the Opening Doors initiative, one of which is the free Skills Development Program. You can learn more about the other three parts at www.openingdoorsglobal.com

Free Skills Development Program

The Opening Doors Skills Development Program is an online learning platform, designed to deliver free training to Charities, Non-Governmental Organisations (NGOs), and Not-For-Profits (NFPs).

The founder of Opening Doors Claire Revell, also CEO of the learning technology company Intellek, believes that learning should be considered not only as a tool for eradicating poverty but also as an opportunity to ignite a revolution for future progress.

Intellek, is the primary provider of the eLearning for the Opening Doors initiative.

What's Included in the Skills Development Program?

There are more than 500 short, targeted, eLearning modules, covering topics including:

- Office 2019/365 (Excel, OneNote, Outlook, PowerPoint, Teams, Word, SharePoint)
- Zoom
- Diversity, Inclusion & Equality
- Cybersecurity
- Financial Literacy
- Soft Skills such as Goal Setting, Leadership and Strategic Delegation
- And so many more!

How do we sign up?

If you'd like to apply for the free program, simply visit www.openingdoorsglobal.com and click 'Apply'. You'll also see a list of FAQs. Alternatively, you can email info@openingdoorsglobal.com
